

FIFTY THOUSAND IS SOUGHT DRIVERS IN

AUTOMOBILE RACE AT INDIANAPOLIS OVER THE BIG SPEEDWAY TODAY

GREAT RACE WAS HELD

With Thousands of Spectators to Cheer the Drivers of the Various Cars to Best Efforts.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Speedway, Indianapolis, May 30.—Under a cloudless sky thousands of motor fans from all over the country assembled today in the odor of gasoline at the Indianapolis Speedway for the great event of the automobile world—the second annual running of the American 500 mile sweepstakes.

The course washed clean of its black and dangerous coats of grease accumulated during weeks of practice, glistening in the sun light, when the big motors rolled along the repair pits swarming with mechanics eager to tune their engines perfectly before starter Fred Wagner at 10 sent them off into the long and desperate supremacy test.

Interruption and his Marmon last year did the distance in 4:42:08 and every pilot today determined to cut this mark in his effort to come into the $20,000 offered for the winner of the race.

Inspired by the strident music of the motors the crowd estimated at 75,000 cheered as the most popular drivers swept out on the track for the brake test.

Women standing in the boxes and the hundreds of cars packed in the infield waved their yells in greeting to the pilots and mechanics who were soon to risk their lives for the glory of the racing automobile.

With an explosive roar of the enormous engines especially built for this ultimate test of speed and endurance the cars came together at the electric timing wire at 9:50.

In a tumult of cheering from the excited multitude starter Wagner led the cars to go, racing and striding on the level the cars made one slow parade lap led by Gill Anderson in the Stutz No. 1 and coming again to the wire leaped thundering into the race pressing together in a blinding cloud of burned and black.

Teddy Telford and his Fiat and Ralph De Palma and his Mercedes fought for the lead in the opening lap and the others were strung out all hitting at top speed the high white banks where death had tripped so many daring drivers.

Telford's time for the first round was one half mile was 1:43:49. Then he lost the lead to De Palma. De Palma held the lead at the 20 miles which he covered in 1:42:28, bettering the old record of 1:45:28 set by Marmon in an Isotta at Los Angeles.

Spencer Wishart in a second Mercedes kept at De Palma's rear wheel with Bruce Brown in a National, third. Ormsby's Opel broke its engine line and he drew out.

At 50 miles De Palma still leads and was ahead of the record. Bruce Brown came into second and third. The race began to tell on tires. Johnnie Jenkins came into the stretch with one tire of his White whipping the track like a whip.

The car swung close to Vengol's Stutz which caught fire but he too came safely to his pit.

World's records went down through the first 100 miles with De Palma leading, set a new mark of 1:30:01 over Telford's old record of 1:41:29. Joe Dawson in a National, bounded in second place and Spencer Wishart took third. Bruce Brown withdrew his National and Harry Knight his Lexington, because of engine trouble.

WINTER SEVERE ON BEES ACCORDING TO REPORT

State Inspector of Apiculture Reports the Conditions of Bees in State Very Unsatisfactory.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., May 30.—The past winter was the hardest for bees in many years, according to the annual report of E. C. Franco, state inspector of apiculture, filed with Gov. McDevitt. From the reports he has received, sixty-two per cent of the bees perished last winter.

Inspector Franco says that many prosperous apiculturists in Wisconsin have lost nearly all of their bees through disease, and he commends the university for taking up the study and teaching of bee culture, which he has urged upon the university authorities for the past eighteen years.

During the last year Mr. Franco inspected one hundred and one apiculturists, who contained three thousand three hundred and fifty-nine colonies of bees. In total and seventy-nine diseased colonies. Of the $700 annually appropriated by the state, only $627.76 has been expended.

MELODRAMATIC RESCUE OF EMPLOYEE IN DIG MINE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Marionette, May 30.—Edward Vandette, an employee of H. J. Goodman at Little Lake, north of Escanaba, Mich., had a marvelous escape from death yesterday. Had it not been for the promptness of H. J. Goodman, Jr., with whom he was working, the man's body would have been cut in two.

Vandette was employed about the big circular saw and it was his duty to ride the carriage on which the logs were carried to the saw and while this engaged Vandette lost his balance and fell crossways on the big saw which was revolving at the rate of several hundred revolutions a minute. The carriage was reversed just in time, but until the saw had cut a wound an inch deep in Vandette's back.

MEMORIES OF THE PAST.

MAY CALL BOYCOTT OF BRITISH SHIPPING AND NATIONAL STRIKE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Berlin, May 30.—The General Council of the International Transport Workers' Federation, whose headquarters are in Berlin, is preparing to act on the appeal of the British dockers to prohibit a world wide boycott of British shipping. Hermann Joche, the president of the council, announced that a cable vote of the heads of the transport workers organization of the nineteen countries affiliated with the International organization including the United States, and Canada, will be taken on the question of the advisability of calling an international boycott as soon as the full report has been received here from London.

National Strike Probable.
London, May 31.—There will be an immediate national strike of transport workers and riverboat laborers to be followed by an international strike unless a result favorable to them be reached at the conference to be held at the board of trade offices tomorrow, according to a statement given out today by the organizing secretary of the dockers' union.

"The continental workers already have decided to strike," said the secretary, "and it is only a question now of confirmation of their decision by the international executive."

The employers do not take much notice of this threat.

Later in the day, despite the militant spirit displayed by the organizing secretary of the dockers' union, the movement toward the national strike received a serious setback.

The executive of the sailors' and firemen's union, which is the strongest body in the National Transport Workers' Federation, the organization which would declare such a strike, decided against it.

This appears to indicate that a dispute has arisen in the ranks of the transport workers' federation which engineered the big strike of last year and aimed at combining all the trade unions of the United Kingdom. Many more non-unions went to work this morning, which is likely to lead to some trouble.

TAFT MEN PREPARE TO CONTROL OHIO STATE CONVENTION

President's Forces Plan to Dominate Republican Body Which Will Name Delegates-at-Large.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, May 30.—With President Taft's influence and that of all the Taft political advisers back of him, Senator Burton will leave Washington Saturday, to take up the fight of control by the Taft forces of the Ohio republican state convention scheduled for early next week.

Although Colonel Roosevelt won a victory over the president in Ohio's primaries, the Taft managers are confident they can dominate the state convention and add Ohio's six delegates-at-large to the Taft column.

At a conference in which Mr. Taft, vice president Sherman and several other members of the cabinet and other Taft leaders were present last night it was decided that Mr. Burton should go to Ohio and make the fight.

Taft's Orders.
Washington, May 31.—President Taft today sent a telegram to Arthur I. Vorys, the republican national committeeman for Ohio, declaring that while he does not need that state's six delegates at large to secure the presidential nomination he will not consider a compromise in the Ohio state convention.

CONVENTION TICKETS DENIED TO COLONEL

Request For 250 Admissions For Roosevelt National Committee Turned Down By Management.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Chicago, May 30.—Colonel Harry S. New, chairman of the committee on arrangements for the national republican convention today received a request from Senator Dixon, the head of the Roosevelt campaign committee for 250 tickets to the national convention for the Roosevelt national committee, to which New replied that the committee would be unable to grant the request.

Col. New explained that in other conventions the national committee had never recognized candidates in issuing tickets of admission. Four years ago one hundred and fifty tickets were given to President Roosevelt and none were issued for Mr. Taft for the use of his friends, cabinet officers and government officials, and no provision had then been made for the supporters of the candidacy of Col. Roosevelt.

The question of what pictures should adorn the convention hall was settled today by Chairman Upham who decided that neither the likeness of President Taft nor a picture of Col. Roosevelt should be used.

FISH COMMISSION IS PROPOSED FOR STATE

Reported That Fishermen of State are Favorable to New Plan to Control Local Fishing.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., May 30.—A new plan is being discussed among hundreds of fishermen of this state which if found to be generally favorable will be presented before the next session of the legislature. The proposed law would create a state fish and game commission to formulate rules and regulations for the taking of fish and game. It would obviate, it is claimed, the enactment of thirty or forty local fish and game bills that came before each legislature.

The idea back of the proposed law is that the legislature has no adequate knowledge of fishing or hunting conditions in the state. It is unable to tell when game is plentiful enough to have an open season. All of this, according to the proposed plan, could be carefully and scientifically worked out in much the same manner as the industrial commission regulates the safety conditions for employees.

Dr. Charles McCarthy, chief of the legislative reference bureau, was unable to tell today whether such a plan had ever been asked for in this country. When asked for his opinion on such a law, he said he believed it would be an adequate solution of both the fish and game problems that came before each legislature. It would obviate bickerings between different localities, he said, and would put fishing and hunting on a scientific basis.

DEATH ENDS CAREER OF WILBUR WRIGHT

NOTED AVIATOR SUCCUMBS TO TYPHOID FEVER AT HOME IN DAYTON AT THREE O'CLOCK THIS MORNING.

ILL FOR THREE WEEKS

Turn for Worse Came at Noon Yesterday When Physicians Gave up All Hopes—One of the Pioneers in Aerial Navigation.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Dayton, Ohio, May 30.—Wilbur Wright noted aviator, died at 3:15 o'clock this morning of typhoid fever. Death came after an illness of about three weeks. Wright has been near death for many days and though his condition from time to time gave some hope to members of his family, the attending physicians, Drs. D. H. Conklin and Levi Spiller maintained throughout the latter part of his sickness that he could not recover.

When the patient succumbed there were at his bedside the members of his family which includes his aged father, Bishop Milton Wright, Miss Catherine Wright, Orville Kouchlin Wright and Lorin Wright. All of the family reside in this city except Kouchlin who lives in Kansas.

The most alarming symptoms developed yesterday shortly before noon when Wright's fever suddenly mounted from 101 to 106 and then quickly subsided to its former state. At this juncture the patient was seized with chills and the attending physicians were baffled by the turn of events.

Chills it was said were unusual in a patient suffering from fever this high and the doctors were puzzled. The condition of the aviator remained unchanged throughout the rest of the day and there was no improvement up until last midnight.

Then Wright began to show an improvement and the watchers at his bedside were reassured. After resting for a few hours last midnight Wright took a sudden turn for the worse and his principal physician, Dr. Conklin, was called. The doctor arrived at 3:25 and learned that Wright had breathed his last a few minutes before.

The noted patient was seized with typhoid May 4, while on a business trip in the east. On that day he returned to Dayton from Boston and consulted Dr. Conklin, the family physician. He took to his bed almost immediately and it was several days before his case was definitely diagnosed as typhoid fever. Arrangements for the funeral had not been completed today.

Wilbur Wright, the elder of the two brothers who have achieved world-wide fame as a result of their successful inventions and experiments with the aeroplane, was born near Millville, Ind., April 16, 1867. Both of the brothers received their education in the public schools of Dayton, Ohio, where their father was located as a bishop of the United Brethren in Christ.

In early childhood the brothers are said to have been keenly interested in flying, but not until 1895 did they begin serious study of the subject of aviation. In 1900 they had perfected their plans for an aeroplane and soon after they settled down to real tests on the sand hills of Eastern North Carolina. Their first machine was not up to expectation.

In 1902 they had improved their machine so that they could remain up in the air a minute at a time. In 1906 they built the first heavier than air machine that had ever raised itself by its own power with a man in it. In 1907 they gave their first public exhibition. Wilbur Wright went to France and at Le Mans he made a series of flights that easily beat all records in aviation.

HALL & HUEBEL

Four Years of Real Joy.
Germany has added another to its list of distinctions. It has produced the perfect fruit. A boy of Dortmund was transferred from one school to another; he found out that his name was not entered on the register. That was four years ago. Since then he has gone from home every morning with his bag of school books, and each evening at the appointed hour he has returned. It has now been discovered that the new school has never seen him, and that he has had four years of vagabondage.

Self-Supporting Animals.
The reindeer, like the camel, is particularly suited to the needs of nomadic people; easily satisfied in the matter of food, it is unnecessary to carry fodder for him; what cactus, thorns and other growths of the conquest are to the camel, lichen or moss, always to be found by scraping away the snow, is to the reindeer;
both are self-supporting travelers—

DETAILS OF MURDER OF HALLEN LEARNED

FORMER JANESVILLE MAN DIED IN THE HOSPITAL SEVERAL HOURS AFTER BEING WOUNDED.

WIFE IS IN ROCKFORD

Woman Who Shot Him Tried to Cover Up Crime by Claiming He Committed Suicide—
Later Confessed.

Additional details in the Hallen shooting from Lansing and investigation here show that the young man, who was known here as Dobbin or Hallen, served as a policeman, restaurant cook and bull-player, who deserted his wife and child for a woman of ill-repute and met his death at the hands of his mistress when he sought to return to his wife who had forgiven him, really deserves no sympathy.

Julia Lindley, the woman who shot and killed him, for whose love he left his wife and child, is held by the Lansing police, charged with the death. The police here are uncertain whether she is insane or not, and letters written by her wife to Hallen and the woman's letter to Mrs. Hallen in which she tells her life's story are kept as evidence to be used in the trial which will probably end in the sentence of life imprisonment for Julia Lindley in the Michigan state's prison.

The shooting occurred on Tuesday evening at seven o'clock. The Lindley woman had obtained a letter written by Hallen's wife to him and had become insanely jealous. To add to this Hallen had come home from his work and told her he was going to resign his place in Lansing and go to Rockford to join his wife. She asked him for a dollar, stating she had but thirty-five cents, and his brutal reply was for her to go out on the streets and earn some more as she had in the past.

Then something snapped in the woman's brain and she grabbed Hallen's own revolver and aiming at him
he bent over to lace his shoes, shot him four times. When the police arrived, sent for by the woman who told them Hal-
len had shot himself,
they found him unconscious and dying, lying up against the door of the closet where he had taken refuge to escape the furious woman's shots.

Without a tremor the girl declared to the chief and his officers that Hallen had inflicted the fatal wounds.
No powder marks were visible on his body and from the positions in which the various wounds were located, it was evident that he had not fired the shots. Chief Behrendt at once ordered the woman placed under arrest and the unconscious form of the dying man was placed in the ambulance and hurried to the hospital. He died three hours later without regaining consciousness.

As strong as were the circumstances
by which the prosecuting attorney hoped to fasten the guilt upon the woman, the officials hoped to gain a confession, which would expedite matters considerably and immediately upon their return to police headquarters Chief Behrendt brought Miss Lindley from her cell to his office.

The officers were sure in their own minds that she was the guilty one, as the discharged shells from the gun
were found behind the closet door against which Hallen's body had fallen. The gun, which was a 32-caliber weapon, was broken open and lay beside his body when the police entered the room. A letter, which Julia Lindley had written to Hallen's wife, who now resides at Rockford, Ill., had been torn to bits and wrapped in a piece of old paper. This letter, which threw considerable light on the possible motive for the crime, was found in a garbage can in the rear of the house. Without a confession, the prosecuting attorney would have built up a case that would probably have resulted in the conviction of the murderess.

When the young woman was brought to the chief's office he informed her that he had talked with Hallen and wanted to get her side of the story. Thinking that her lover had told of the shooting, she fell readily into the trap and consented to review the tragedy for the benefit

In the attempt to capitalize such a policy, the store may go on to say "We spend no money for advertising and for this reason sell our goods more cheaply."

A shopper's investigation, however, uniformly shows that prices are, on the average, higher in such a store than with its more enterprising competitors.

Systematic advertising reduces the cost of merchandising.
Systematic advertising events up the business of the store and gives increased volume. Each of these is a material saving in the cost of merchandising.

The enterprising store which advertises regularly is able in other words, to sell cheaper because it sells more.

of the police officers.
Then the Lindley woman broke down and told her whole sordid story. How she and Hallen ran away
from Janesville, went to Rockford, and then to Chicago, and finally to Lansing. How she loved him and how she forgot everything when he told her he was going to leave her,
of her own life of shame in the past,
her relations with Hallen while living in Janesville, and how while as a policeman he visited her repeatedly in the disorderly house she lived in and the letter which she found from Hallen's wife begging him to return to her in Rockford, and then his statement he was going to leave her and his brutal talk to her.

The police have the letter from Mrs. Hal-
len to her husband, written in Rockford, telling of her work at Hallen's park; how big their little girl was and how she only wanted to get suitable clothes and money, enough to go to Lansing to join her husband.
The letter expressed forgiveness for Julia Lindley's part in separating them and stated she wanted to know the Lindley woman and be her friend.
Frequent reference to baseball and sports her husband was interested in and love from herself and child closed
the letter.

Before shooting Hallen the Lindley woman had written a long letter to Mrs. Hal-
len in which she told of her love for Hallen, her hopes that if he did return to her that she would be good to him. How she had babbled him and cared for him, and how she had given up everything for him. This was a pitiful appeal and a sad tale from the pages of her own life. This was written before she shot the man who claimed she loved and was filled with details of the life in Janesville and Hal-
len's visit to her while acting as a policeman on night duty.

Mrs. Hal-
len is still in Rockford and it is understood her husband's body will be shipped there for burial.
Meanwhile his murderers await their trial for life in the Lansing prison and will doubtless end her days behind the bars expiating the crime of killing the man who used her, and then attempted to throw her over when tired of her. The wages of sin are death and Edward Hallen has paid in full the toll exacted by it.

In talking with Chief Appley,
of Hal-
len, today, he said: "I had great faith in Hallen as a police officer until just before I got through with him.
I thought him an honorable and a good policeman until one night his wife came to me at my office and told me she had been following Ed, and had seen him with a woman whom she said was a bad woman. While we were talking Ed came into the office and I told him what his wife had told me. He denied that anything was wrong; that the woman he was talking to only asked him a question that he was answering, when his wife came around the corner.
"Hallen and his wife began to quarrel and I stopped them; and told Ed to walk his beat, and if he wanted to stay on the police force he had better not do anything that would cause his wife to be jealous of him. Shortly after that Ed got through with the extra duty and went to work in a restaurant."

"It was some time after the first of the year that I got a telephone at one o'clock in the morning from Mrs.
Hallen stating that she was having trouble with Ed. I told her that if Ed had done anything to be arrested for the night men would attend to it for her, and she left the phone. About four o'clock—three hours later—the door bell rang. I went to the door and there stood Mrs. Hallen. She wanted to talk to me about Ed.
I told her to go ahead for I saw she was excited, and hysterical. She took a chair and told me she found Ed, chatting with a woman in the cave by the name of Julia. She told me the woman lived on Academy street. I told her to go home and I would find Julia in the morning and take care of her."

"I told her if she wanted Ed, arrested she could get a warrant in the morning. The next morning I made arrests and found that Julia and a woman by the name of O'Brien had a room on Academy street. I went there and Julia met me at the door.
I questioned her in regard to Mr. and Mrs. Hal-
len and their trouble, and she stated that Mrs. Hallen was jealous; that's all."

"I told her it looked to me that
Mrs. Hal-
len had cause to be jealous, and told her in plain language that I would give her and her friend, Mrs.
O'Brien, all night to get out of town and stay out, never to return, and if they did I would arrest them with a state warrant. They both left on the four o'clock train for Rockford that day and it was only a short time after that Mrs. Hallen told me that Ed had left for parts unknown.
Ed had different times Mrs. Hallen had told me that she got letters from Ed, and to make up I advised her on one occasion, perhaps it would be better to do so on account of Little Alice, who is a loving little child, but she said she could not live with him again.
Little Alice is living with Ed's father in Rockford. I am sorry for Mrs. Hallen and Alice and to think that Ed, should so forget his duties as a husband and father and ruin his wife and daughter's life, and himself be shot down in cold blood."

RUNAWAY HORSE IN LONG FRANTIC DASH

Animal Owned by Constable Dulin in Long Flight Through Main Streets
of City Last Evening.

Dashing wildly up and down the main streets of the city, resending successfully all efforts at capture, the small bay horse owned by Constable William Dulin, gave a half hour's exciting entertainment which rivaled the Roman chariot races of circus fame shortly before six o'clock last evening.

While scratching his head on the post to which he was tied on Main street, the animal's bride became unfastened and with a plunge he was free and started on his mad career.
With the buggy rolling wildly at his heels he dashed up Milwaukee street at break-neck speed. After a tour of the fourth ward he dashed back to the main streets, again successfully avoiding collisions with buggies, street cars, automobiles, drays and express wagons. He rushed down North Main street and safely avoided
the obstructions incident to the paying operations. Turning toward Bluff street he was pursued by Harold Campbell in an automobile, also by a motorcycle rider. They followed the animal over the Court street bridge down into Monterey and out into the country. It was two miles out of the city on the Afton road before Campbell, in his auto, finally took advantage of the straight away road and dashed ahead of the animal, who seemed utterly untried in spite of his long run. By crossing directly in front of the horse he was finally stopped and held until Officer Dulin came up in another rig and took possession of his wayward beast.

The animal seems to be subject to chronic fits of runaway as he gave former street commissioner Dan Wilkins some trouble when owned by him.

nent citizens have been subpoenaed

The alleged crime is one that is all too common and should be prevented by making an example of someone. The prosecution will leave no stone unturned to convict the culprit and win the applause of a long suffering public. The jury, which will be composed of ladies, will undoubtedly give us an example of the superb licly disposed of in the days when woman's suffrage has been secured.

Got Neatly Over Difficulty.
The mayor of a French town had, in accordance with the regulations, to make out a passport for a rich and highly respectable lady of his acquaintance, who, in spite of a slight disfigurement, was very vain of her personal appearance. His native politeness prompted him to gloss over the defect, and, after a moment's reflection, he wrote among the items of personal description: "Eyes dark, beautiful, tender, expressive, but one of them missing."

Value of Manual Training.
It is nothing but the delicacy of his sense of touch that gives to man his marvelous skill with his fingers, so that he can make all manner of tools and instruments, nothing being too fine for him to handle. This is one argument in favor of manual training, which teaches children how to use their hands and enables them to acquire so much useful knowledge through their fingers.—New York Sun.

Hugh S. Fullerton, the well known baseball writer, explains the meaning of different baseball terms in the American magazine for June. Here are a few:

"Bean (N): The head of a player (V) to bean—to pitch or throw and hit the batter on the head. (See L. I. Ma.)

"Bonehead: A player noted for making stupid plays; one chapter spoke of a player's head as his 'm. mored turret'.

"Crab: A crabbed player, a 'grouch.' The verb of crab means to show a quarrelsome or complaining spirit. Many of the worst 'crabs' in baseball are the 'planted' and most genial when off the field their crabbedness obviously being the result of the nervous strain of playing.

"Flatfooted: Unprepared, caught napping. Any player who is caught napping off a base by a throw from pitcher or catcher is caught 'flat-footed.' The opposite of 'on the toes.' Flat-footed is also applied to runners who do not rise on the balls of the feet in sprinting, but allow their heels to touch. Also, such runners are 'knee-footed or slough-footed'.

"Most hand: The throwing hand of a player, the term resulting from the fact that the throwing hand is bare while the other is protected by a glove or mitt.

The Oceanic Multitude.

Every multitude is in its nature like the ocean, which, though in itself incapable of motion, is excited by storms and winds. So, also, in your selves there is calm and there are storms; but the cause and origin of your fury are entirely attributable to those who led you on; you have caught your madness by contagion.—Selma Pricanna Major.

Barney Sheridan, who has tried to "come back" in the dancing game and failed, says that when a man passes 28 and a woman 25 they lose their "pop" in dancing. He says they may still enjoy dancing and will struggle along all evening, but their limbs lack the springiness and elasticity enjoyed by the younger people.—Kansas City Journal.

Harm Wrought by Athletics.

A study of 625 athletes of the Naval academy and training school for the ten years ending last year shows twenty-one deaths, six from consumption, eight from nervous diseases, two from alcohol and two from heart disease—heart trouble brought on by too much running. Football caused one death. But worst of all, among the other 604 athletes are 198 who have had officially recorded injuries supposed to be brought about by athletics. One-third of the 198 had troubles of the heart—shrinkage of the heart, loose valves, fast and irregular beating of the heart and bagginess of the heart. In 16 of the 198 the joints of the legs or arms were out of order, and 17 had either active or sleeping consumption. Eleven had kidney disease and 16 were sufferers from nervousness and stomach trouble.—New York Press.

Imagination.

The faculty of imagination is the great spring of human activity, and the principal source of human improvement. As it delights in presenting to the mind scenes and characters more perfect than those which we are acquainted with, it prevents us from ever being completely satisfied with our present condition, or with our past attainments, and engages us continually in the pursuit of some untried enjoyment, or of some ideal excellence. Hence the ardor of the selfish to better their fortunes, and to add to their personal accomplishments, and hence the zeal of the patriot and the philosopher to advance the virtue and the happiness of the human race. Destroy this faculty, and the condition of man will become as stationary as that of brutes.—Dugald Stewart.

MORE ABOUT PRACTICAL EDUCATION.
Another paragraph from the bulletin issued by the Board of Industrial Education, says:
"An investigation by a Massachusetts commission into the condition of 3,700 families whose children were absenting themselves from school, disclosed the surprising fact that 76 per cent of them might better than not continue in school. Their services were not needed by their families. They were out of school only because the parents were tired of insisting upon further attendance, and because the work of the school was distasteful."
"It is not enough to compel children to attend school until sixteen years of age. Many children under such legal compulsion, and with the courses of study as heretofore, will hate school, will loiter and slack in school, require an extreme discipline for work, and be more injured than helped. The new industrial education, by making work in the seventh and eighth grades more practical, will keep great numbers of these children in school of their own accord, and will make them like school sometimes as well as they like their games. Many a big rough boy despises the drawing lesson that requires him to picture a rose. He will be absorbed with interest when the drawing lesson enables him to make a working draft of a house or an automobile."
"That tells the story in a nutshell. Compulsory education is a farce, when applied to the boy of fourteen, unless the school is made attractive, and this can only be done by a course of industrial training which appeals to the boy along practical lines. The great masses of boys graduate from the grades, with no diploma, and but little to show for the time invested. They are entitled to more intelligent treatment."

FLOATING PALACES.
The ill-fated Titanic was one of four great ocean liners in process of construction. The others are nearing completion, and one is soon to be launched. She is 1,000 feet long, will accommodate 5,000 passengers, and is equipped with every luxury which money can procure. One of the features of the upper deck is a modern apartment house with servants' quarters and furnished with every convenience. The man who has the price can enjoy the privacy of his own home enroute, and America furnishes the shops for these expensive quarters. In fact, the boats are built to meet the demands of American tourists.

The lack of lifeboats, and the inferiority of the crew is also criticized.
The people who have the money and the disposition to spend it like water should be compelled to make their ocean voyages in a class by themselves, either in their own boats or in palaces constructed to meet their demands. The great traveling public has nothing in common with this class of people, and no desire to associate with them. The popular demand is for comfort and safety, rather than for speed and luxury.

THE CITY OF GALVESTON.
The city of Galveston, Texas, has just completed a concrete causeway across the bay to the mainland, two miles away, and a day of jubilee marked the event. The county, and the railroad entering the city shared in the undertaking, and more than $2,000,000 was invested in the enterprise.
The bridge is wide enough to accommodate both steam and urban traffic and will prove a source of pleasure, as well as profit, to the city which was so badly stricken a few years ago by flood. It speaks well for the pluck and enterprise of the people.

The Galveston Daily News had much to do with promoting the plan, and encouraging interest as the work progressed. The paper, which is one of the best in the state, published a special edition of fifty-two pages, Saturday, May 25, which contains illustrations of the work in process and completed, as well as much interesting data concerning the pluckiest city in the southwest.
The new causeway is tidal wave-proof and renders the city safe. The outstanding citizenship have confidence in future development, and their hopes will be realized because they work together as a unit.

Senator Albert J. Cummins of Iowa is the only presidential candidate who is having a real quiet peaceful time. He claims to have ten of the Iowa delegates bottled up and is encouraged by a ray of hope that in some mysterious way lightning may strike him. The modest senator's hopes may be realized, but Colonel Roosevelt don't think so.

"There's nothing succeeds like success," and it may not be difficult for Roosevelt to stampede the Chicago convention. Flushed with victory in Ohio and New Jersey, and believing that the people throughout the country are back of him, he may feel warranted in resorting to extreme measures to capture the enemy in the last ditch.

The "Anything to beat Taft" campaign is about closed, so far as the primary work is concerned, and results seem to be gratifying to the promoters. It has been a personal fight from start to finish, and a disgrace to the nation. The end is not yet.

Indianapolis is entertaining 100,000 visitors, attracted by the 500-mile race, in which twenty-four men will invite death on the fastest automobile track in the country. The speed mania has become epidemic.

PRESS COMMENT.
Forestry Development.
Rockford Register-Gazette: The leaders of the forestry movement in Wisconsin call special attention to the importance of the wood using industries of that state. It is but a few years since they were able to get all their supplies from their own state but today they have to go outside for a large proportion. The present plans of the state include sufficient reforestation, when fully developed, to make it possible to provide for about a third of the needs. They ought to be expanded in proportion to the demand. This illustration gives us an intelligent idea of the ends the undertaking has in view. Wisconsin must grow its own timber. It is able to do so. The time is here when the beginning must be made or the state will be the loser by the departure of those important industries. Some of the lands available for forestry are not at present valuable for agriculture.

For Newspaper Progress.
Wisconsin State Journal: It being the era of progress, reform and purity they are after the newspapers as well as the catnip men, the purveyors of bonanza of soda, the grafters and the future judiciary. A bill is being pushed in congress to require all newspapers to publish, regularly, a list of their editors, stockholders and bondholders, and in some states, Massachusetts, for instance, laws have been enacted to punish with a fine of $10 or more any advertiser who causes an untruthful or misleading advertisement to be published.
Why not? The people have a right to know what influences the publication that influences the public and its servants in office. The people certainly are entitled to protection against liars who are after their money through advertising.
The movement for an honest show-down by the newspapers will be endorsed by the honest part of the public press, for it will be to their advantage that the frauds and fakery in the business be cleaned out, which they will be when the character of their ownership and their dependence upon the "tricks of the trade" are exposed.

Lessons From Tyrus.
Milwaukee Sentinel: Mary Garden is one of our best little advertisers, but she can learn something from Tyrus Cobb. Imagine the newspaper space she would gain by taking a wall-to-wall at a member of the audience.

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

By Roy K. Moulton.

Always be Polite.
Every once in a while something occurs which leads the wandering mind of mortal man back to the everlasting truth that it pays to be polite. You may not think it pays, at the time, but a man gets what he gives out in this world and the law of compensation is seldom violated. Just the other day a citizen of New York found this out. He once knew a man a glass of water in a hospital when the latter needed the water badly, and when the man died he left the New York City $1,146,826. With this case in mind one should follow the appended set of general rules:

When a fleshy old gentleman stops upon your path while climbing into his seat at the theater and then stands on it for a minute or two while nodding to an acquaintance in the rear of the house, do not call him an antiquated boobster or an ivory beamed old galoot, but smile upon him graciously and offer him the other foot to step on. Make a few pleasant remarks about the weather and ask after the state of health of his family. Then go out and buy him a bouquet of violets and present it to him.

If an old lady with square spectacles who looks as though she might have money, sticks an umbrella point in your eye lift your hat politely and ask her if she won't have an ice cream soda.

If a gentleman in the train piles his baggage in your seat while you are in the smoker, give him a good glare and sit on the floor.
If a man runs you down with an automobile and breaks all of your ribs and one of the lamps on his car, send him a new lamp and a bouquet of American Beauties as soon as you are out of the hospital.

There are thousands of occasions of this kind of which you may take advantage and which may pay out well. You never can tell just who is going to die and leave money or just whom they are going to leave it to.

Senator Owen Boomed For Attorney General
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., May 30.—Five Wisconsin senators have issued a statement setting forth Senator Walter C. Owen's qualifications for the office of attorney general, to which he aspires at the republican primaries. They are: A. W. Sanborn, Ashland; Otto Rosendahl, La Crosse; George E. Scott, Prairie du Rocher; George J. Weidner, Milwaukee; and John C. Kleczka, Milwaukee. The statement emphasizes Senator Owen's activity and influence in progressive legislation in the last two terms of four years each, noting particularly his leadership in banking legislation. Other legislation for which he is given large credit is cited as follows: Insurance, binder twine, reorganization of senate committees, corporations. Mention also is made of his fight for the state guarantee of bank deposits, a measure which failed at the session of 1911.

TABLET COMMEMORATES FIRST MASS ON MANHATTAN ISLAND
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
New York, May 30.—The Sabbath like quiet that usually prevails in the financial district on a holiday was interrupted this afternoon, when a large crowd of Catholic clergy and laymen gathered about the United States Custom House, in Bowling Green, for the unveiling of a tablet to mark the spot where the first mass was celebrated by a Catholic priest on Manhattan Island. Where the insignificant new house now stands there stood in the early days Fort James, within the precincts of which the sacrifice of the mass was first offered up in 1624 by Rev. Thomas Garvey, a Jesuit priest who was chaplain to Governor Thomas Dongan. The tablet commemorating the event was erected by the Order of the A. H. which has for one of its primary objects the marking of places notable in the Catholic history of the United States.

ASK OFFICIALS TO JOIN FORWARD WISCONSIN LEAGUE.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., May 30.—State capital officials and employees received letters today from the "Forward Wisconsin League" of Milwaukee asking for a contribution of $1 to be expended in advertising the resources of Wisconsin. A number of the officials signified their intention of joining the league and Insurance Commissioner Ekor said he for one believed the plan to be most commendable. The letter sent by the league is signed by Alvin P. Kietzsch, president of the Milwaukee & Western railway company, and William George Bruce, secretary of the Merchants and Manufacturers' association. The letter says that "Wisconsin excels all states in natural advantages. It has a high birth rate and a low death rate."

The Perfect Tribute:
"Fourscore and seven years ago our forefathers brought forth on this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal. Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation, or any nation, so conceived and so dedicated, can long endure. We are met on a great battlefield of that war. We have come to dedicate a portion of it as a final resting-place for those who gave their lives that that nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this."
"But in a larger sense we cannot dedicate, we cannot consecrate, we cannot hallow, this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here, have consecrated it far above our poor power to add or detract. The world will little note nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us, the living, rather, to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us—that from these honored dead, we take increased devotion to that cause for which they here gave the last full measure of devotion—that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain, that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom, and that government of the people, by the people, for the people shall not perish from the earth."

—Abraham Lincoln.

MOTORCYCLE RACES ATTRACT BIG CROWD

FIRST ANNUAL OPENING OF PARK ASSOCIATION GROUNDS
DRAWS RECORD ATTENDANCE.

SEVEN FAST EVENTS

Long List of Speed Artists Contend for Honors on Local Speedway in Seven Big Events This Afternoon.

Motorcycle speedmen from every section of the country including some of the best riders of the middle west contended for the honors of the big speed contest which was held at the mile track of the Janesville Park association this afternoon.

There was a record attendance at the races. The grandstand was filled and the overflow gathered along the track at the mile. Efforts to advertise the races were responsible for the large crowd as well as the long list of entries in the seven events scheduled. It was a most successful opening of the season for the Park Association and the Janesville Motorcycle club and augurs well for future events of the kind which will probably be held here this year.

Following are the events for which there were $150 in prizes offered by the Park Association in addition to a number of cups and medals offered by individuals:

1. Two mile 30-50 Novice.
2. Ten mile 61-00 Private Owner (regular stock).
3. Five mile 30-50. Trade Riders (no objection to private owners).
4. Ten mile 30-50 Private Owners.
5. Ten mile 61-00 Trade Riders (no objection to private owners).

6. Five mile consolation (the last three finishing in events 1, 2 and 3 providing more than three entries).

7. Five mile consolation 61-00 (last three finishing in events 2 and 3 providing more than three entries).

Among the main features of the races was the work of Costello, the young Chicago rider, who showed remarkable ability as a racer on the Indian. Stevens, Hamilton, Park and many others came in for their share of the glory.

Much credit is due the officials of the races for the way in which they took care of the entire program and everything went with remarkable smoothness. In the capacity of referee C. A. Carpenter of Milwaukee proved himself to be one of the best race officials in the state. The others were Charles Cox, Judge; Frank Doane, Will Haumann, Albert Grider, Will Hall and A. W. Hall, times; Harry Richards, E. Church, John Snyder and Harold Campbell, trackmen; H. H. McDonald, manager, and A. W. Dunneville, clerk of the course.

Owing to the fact that recent rains had soaked the track several times, considerable dragging was necessary to get it into good shape but it was in excellent condition before the races started and the practice on it in the morning put it in top shape. As it is, one of the best tracks in the state, it is not the best outside of Milwaukee, there was every opportunity to make good time and it was taken advantage of by all the contestants.

Altogether the races were a great success and not only were those who attended them pleased at the outcome but the racers themselves and helpers voted with one accord that the Janesville Motorcycle Club were capital hosts and hoped that next year they might have another opportunity of racing here.

HONORED MEMORY OF THE DEAD VETERANS

MEMORIAL SERVICES AT GRAVES OF DEAD SOLDIERS THIS MORNING.

SERVICES AT THEATRE

Exercises Were Held at Myers Theater at Two O'Clock This Afternoon, Dr. J. W. Laughlin De-livering Memorial Day Address.

Favorable weather, and a bright sunshiny day brought out a large number of the veterans of the Civil War, the "Boys of '61" this morning for their annual memorial exercises in honor of their dead comrades.

Forty-seven of the veterans in this city, over half the number of those now living here who went out when the call for troops came in 1861, were gathered at the G. A. R. hall this morning to march in the parade.

At nine o'clock sharp, the line was drawn up and the parade started. The flower City band led the procession, followed by the firing squad of the Spanish War Veterans and the Spanish War Veterans. Twenty-four in all, the old soldiers following.

The line of march was up Milwaukee street to the corner of West Milwaukee and North Jackson streets, where the old soldiers were given transportation to the cemetery in fifteen automobiles, donated by the owners for that purpose. Two carryalls were provided for members of the Woman's Relief Corps who took part in the exercises at the cemetery and helped decorate the graves of the old soldiers.

At the cemetery the usual Memorial Day services were held. The services in honor of the dead soldiers of the Civil War were conducted by the W. R. C., at the fountain in front of Oak Hill chapel, and the services for the dead veterans were held at the graves in Oak Hill and Mt. Olivet cemeteries by the G. A. R. men. A volley was fired over each grave by the firing squad of eight from the Spanish War Veterans.

This afternoon the old soldiers met at their hall and led by the G. A. R. life and drum corps, marched to the Myers Theater. They were accompanied by a detail of the Boy Scouts and their life and drum corps which made its first appearance today and by members of the Spanish Veterans.

The Myers Theater was crowded for the exercises which were held this afternoon at two o'clock. The exercises opened with music by the G. A. R. life and drum corps. The invocation was given by the Rev. C. J. Roberts of the United Brethren church and the Rock Lyceum Glee club sang "The Battle Hymn of the Republic." Lincoln's "Gettysburg Address" was read by Stanley Woodward, and a solo, "The Star Spangled Banner" was sung by E. L. Roeder.

The Rock Lyceum Glee club rendered the song, "Tenting Tonight."

The Memorial Day address was delivered by Dr. J. W. Laughlin who eulogized the deeds of the heroes of the rebellion, and held up their example as one for the present and future generations to follow. The exercises closed with the singing of "America," the Rock Lyceum Glee Club leading the audience in the song, and the benediction was given.

NEW ORDINANCE IS GENERALLY OBEYED

Chief of Police Appleby Has Out Nine Retail Liquor Shops on the List Today.

"There are but nine retail liquor shops in the city that have not fully complied with the new screen ordinance," said Chief of Police George M. Appleby this morning. "These nine places I will visit today and I am sure they will meet the requirements at once. The most serious complaint with these nine is that they have not followed out the instructions regarding lights after hours, although there are one or two places which have not complied with the furniture requirements."

For the past ten days carpenters have been busy putting the glass screens that hide the view of the bars from the street into shape so they can be swung open at nights and on Sundays and arranging the window screens that they can either be taken out after hours and on Sundays, or left out entirely.

"I have found some trouble in making all the saloons adjust themselves to the law," said Mr. Appleby, "owing to the fact that conditions are different in different bar rooms. However, for the most part, the retail liquor men have gladly complied with the new law as they see that it gives no one individual an opportunity to evade the law without being caught. I think by the last of the week all will be in order and the law rightly obeyed from now on."

Closely being kept not only by the police, but also by a special committee of citizens who are most interested in the preservation of law and order in the city, to see that there are no evasions of the law and the secretary of this latter organization reports that thus far the law has been observed by a majority of the retail liquor men to the letter.

MANY ENJOYED DAY AT THE GOLF LINKS

Good Attendance Marked the Opening of the Summer Season For the Sninissippi Members.

Bright, cool weather, ideal for golf, marked the opening of the season of Ninissippi. Twelve at the Sninissippi Golf club today. From early morning the links have been most popular although the match medal play did not take place until this afternoon. Many members made it an all day affair and took their luncheon and dinner at the club house where the tables were spread on the wide porch.

This afternoon the bridge whist games, under the direction of Mrs. Charles Gage, began and these, with the putting contests kept the lady members busy, although some even tried their hands at mixed foursomes during the day. Much satisfaction is expressed over the manner in which the various departments of the club life are to be divided this year. Orders for the club dinner this evening received in advance show that it will be well attended and under the direction of Miss Helen Jeffris and her assistants all will be served on the wide eating veranda with but little delay, to the toothsome meal provided.

This evening occurs the first of the summer dances. This department is in charge of Kenneth Jeffris and everything will be done to make their success assured. Tickets will be sold for the whole series of fifteen dances or for the single series of five and interspersed will be unique entertainments that promise much amusement for all who attend. Carter's orchestra will furnish the music and a handsome new piano having been purchased by the committee for use of the club.

WILL HOLD FUNERAL FRIDAY AFTERNOON

Last Sad Rites for Marshall J. Fisher, Respected Evansville Citizen, Will be Held Tomorrow.

Evansville, May 30.—The funeral services for Marshall J. Fisher will be held Friday at half past two from the Congregational church. Rev. D. C. Grubill will read the service at the church and the Free Masons will have charge of the burial services at the cemetery.

Since the first of March Mr. Fisher has been failing and since the first of April has been confined to his bed. All that the best medical skill could do for him was of no avail, and he passed on to "The Land of Rest" Monday evening at about ten o'clock. Mr. Fisher was born in Cooksville, sixty-two years ago and lived there until he was three years old when his parents moved onto a farm in the town of Oregon, where he grew to manhood. Of his father's family only one brother, Henry Fisher of Eugene, Oregon, survives him.

In 1875 he married Miss Anna Story who, with their three sons, also survive him. In 1887 he moved with his family to Evansville, at which time he was engaged as traveling salesman for the machinery company of Cass, Scott & Co., of Richmond, Indiana, with whom he remained for six years acting as general agent part of the time, with headquarters at Madison, except for one year, that he was located at Minneapolis, Minn. At the end of his service with the company, he engaged in real estate work with Mr. Elsworth of Madison, but at the end of one year they dissolved partnership and he took up real estate business in Evansville in 1893, with Mr. Allen Bible as partner. After a long term of years this partnership was dissolved and after a year or two of business with Mr. Byrne he organized a partnership with Mr. James Gillies, and under the firm name of Fisher and Gillies has been doing real estate business up to the present time.

FIRST UNION SOLDIER KILLED IN CIVIL WAR SLEEPS IN LAFAYETTE CEMETERY

La Fayette, Ind., May 31.—In Greenwald cemetery, in this city, rest the remains of William T. Girard, the first Union soldier killed in the Civil war. When Abraham Lincoln called for volunteers at the outbreak of the war Girard, whose home was at Bradford, now Monon, Ind., was one of the first to respond. He went to Indianapolis, where on April 21, 1861, he enlisted for three months' service and became a private in Co. G, Ninth Indiana Volunteers.

On the morning of July 7, 1861, while Company G was making a charge up Laurel Hill in West Virginia, Girard was struck in the head with a bullet and instantly killed. Judge E. P. Hammond, of this city, then serving as first lieutenant, was within ten feet of Girard when his death occurred and remembers the incident very clearly. Girard was buried by his comrades on the battlefield; but later his remains were taken up and interred in Greenwald cemetery. His grave is shown in the accompanying picture.

PUBLICITY MANAGERS OF PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATES WON'T LET THE DEAR PEOPLE FORGET WHO'S RUNNING FOR THE NOMINATION

The publicity manager's job is second only in importance to that of the campaign manager. For this position some veteran newspaper correspondent is usually chosen, some man who has been covering political news for a large and influential newspaper for years and one who probably knows more about politics than the candidate himself. These are the men who are constantly busy getting their candidate's names and qualifications before the public.

These men are constantly on the alert for anything that may help their candidate's chances and their bureaus work night and day before the conventions.

Many methods of publicity are used and the elaborateness of their publicity schemes depends largely on the amount of money available for the purpose. The most common of methods is the preparation of bulletins containing statements favorable to their candidate. These are mailed to a long list of newspapers and are sent by messengers to the correspondents of those that have local offices. It is cheap and they all use this method. Some by reason of the small amount of money available have to use this method almost exclusively.

Occasionally this method is elaborated upon by mailing these bulletins to a list of the candidate's supporters in various parts of the country.

An expensive method and one used in this present campaign by only the two most prominent Republican candidates is the preparation and shipping through two or three of the big newspaper plate manufacturers of plates aggregating two or three columns a week to newspapers which have announced their willingness to accept them.

Of course pamphlets and posters are distributed by the hundred thousand, but the foregoing are the principal methods used to gain publicity for the candidates. Only one other method is used and this by only one of the national bureaus. Night letters are sent out to a list of about a hundred newspapers and individuals interested in the success of this particular candidate. This is by far the most expensive of all methods and the telegraph bills for the bureau with only one of the telegraph companies has been over $1,700 up to date.

NOWADAYS very few of us are called on to die for our country, or for any great cause. The main thing is--Do we live for it? Some times it's really a greater achievement to live for a thing than to die for it.

Now, you may think this talk and this patriotic anniversary of Decoration Day has nothing to do with the clothing business. But the big idea back of this celebration is the big idea that ought to be back of everything we do. The man who serves his community and his fellow men by doing, as well as he can, something that needs to be done, may be, in a true sense, "living" for his community and for his fellows.

One thing that needs to be done is to make good clothes, and to sell them fairly.

HEART AND HOME TALKS

Has Daintiness or Style the More Charm in Dress?

IF WE will look rather deeply into some of the problems of living we will see that money is not so essential to securing certain desired results as we may think.

Almost every normal woman desires to make a pleasing appearance. And to do this, most women think they must depend largely upon dress. And if they haven't the money to afford style and richness and variety, they conclude they cannot make an attractive appearance; or at any rate cannot vie with the woman who can buy the latest styles, elegant materials and all the little et ceteras that add so much to a smart appearance.

But honestly, which is the most attractive in a woman, daintiness or dress? Which woman pleases you the more, the one who impresses you with her absolute daintiness and freshness and wholesomeness, or the one who simply gains attention because of her stylish clothes, the richness of her silks or velvets, or the glitter of her jewels? Doesn't the dainty woman attract more than the merely well-dressed one?

And daintiness is a thing that has little to do with cost. A woman can be daintily dressed, even if she can't be expensively dressed. Daintiness is a matter of good grooming. It takes some time, but it doesn't require much money. And so the woman who wishes to make an attractive appearance needn't despair, even if her pocketbook is slim. If she will go in for daintiness she can be quite as charming as the expensively gowned woman, perhaps even more so.

And no matter how little money she has to spend on dress, daintiness will lend the same charm. Only, the less money she has, the more should she go in for simplicity. Foolish frilleries are not for the one with a small dress-allowance. Simple things, as good in quality as possible, give a better effect than finery that is cheap in quality. Cheap finery detracts from daintiness. For the dainty girl always gives the impression of being refined; and coarseness in dress shows lack of refinement. It is on a par with vulgarity in manners.

Neatness is another essential of daintiness. And this is not a matter of cost but of care. Shoes need to be blackened, gloves mended, skirts hemmed, hats brushed. If a veil is worn it must be put on in a trim, taut way without dangling, untidy ends. And here again, if time is scant, simplicity counts. For the busy woman can keep a simple toilette fresh and neat, when one with all sorts of frills and furbelows cannot receive sufficient care to keep it in a well-groomed condition. Better a smart wing or a knot of ribbon or velvet on the hat than a feather all out of curl. Better some simple, but good trimming than a cheap willow plume.

So you see in the matter of an attractive appearance, as in many another thing, money is not so absolutely essential to success, if we will look a little deeply into the subject. We are all very apt to conclude that if we haven't money, we can't do this or that or the other. Money is very helpful in the problem of living. But it by no means controls the situation. The best things of life are beyond the power of money to buy. And some of the seemingly more trivial things can be secured with but little money. If we will put our wits to work instead of merely opening our pocketbook. And the woman who will determine to be absolutely dainty in her appearance need not envy her expensively gowned sister. For the well-groomed, dainty woman has a charm quite as appealing as style or expense in dress; and if she will make the most of this, she need not feel that in appearance, she lags behind her financially more fortunate sister.

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON.

WHEN FOUR PEOPLE MARRY.

IF ONLY marriages could be contracted between two parties instead of four, how much more chance there would be for happy unions!

What do I mean?

Let me answer your question Yankee-wise by asking if you have ever read what Oliver Wendell Holmes says about the confusion and misapprehension which are likely to occur among the six, when any two people are talking together.

The "Breakfast Table" was so startled at his statement as you were at mine, and he hastened to prove his sanity by explaining that those six personalities were:

THREE JOHNS—

1. The real John; known only to his Maker.
2. John's ideal John; never the real one and often very unlike him.
3. Thomas' ideal John; never the real John, nor John's John, but often very unlike either.

THREE THOMAS—

1. The real Thomas.
2. Thomas' ideal Thomas.
3. John's ideal Thomas.

Now I think that the four personalities which join in every marriage contract are: (1) The real woman; (2) The woman the man expects to marry; (3) The real man; (4) The man the woman expects to marry.

For instance, two young people who have been living for some months in the glamorous Maytime of engaged life, finally take their marriage vows.

By her hopes and dreams, and by the glamor of engaged life, she has been led to think she is marrying—

A being whose greatest delight will always be to listen to her woes and tribulations and comfort her.

A man who will never tire of telling her how much sweeter and more desirable she is than any other woman in the world.

A man who will always consider her curious and her approval the greatest happiness on earth, and her society the most blissful excitement.

A proxy money maker who will remove all necessity for her ever worrying any more about things financial.

The man on the other hand has no doubt that the dutiful creature he is wedding to cherish is—

A woman who will always admire him above all other men, no matter how commonplace he may really be; who will see him tall, though he is short; handsome, though he is ugly; clever, though he is the most stupid of mankind.

A listener who will be always eager to hear him talk about himself.

A housewife whose highest earthly ambition will be to have his food prepared just the way he likes it and keep him in every way comfortable.

A man who will make his income cover the needs of two a little more easily than it compassed the needs of one.

And when you consider that after all, he is marrying an average woman and she an ordinary man, is it not strange that these four personalities do not come to grief more often? Is it not truly remarkable that we do not have more divorces instead of less?

DINNER STORIES

"An Englishman who recently arrived the most offensive breath, don't give in this country, went on into Marion county to visit some of the Lord Scully family, and while wandering about came to a small white building," says "Tom" McNeal. "Afterward, on making inquiry as to what kind of animal it was and the name of it, he was told that it was a polecat. After he had changed his clothes, he sat down and wrote to his family back in England as follows:

"I have been out looking over the country today, and in travelling about I met with an American cat, think I or? I wish to catch the 3:45 train."

A gentleman who was anxious to catch a certain train called a hand-car, gave instructions as to the station to be driven to, and jumped in, but the horse made terribly slow progress and every second made the fare think that he would miss his train.

At length he addressed John: "Look here cabman," he said, "can't you make your horse go faster? I wish to catch the 3:45 train."

The cabman winked knowingly and replied:

"Yes sir, he can go faster. But it's like this, sir. My horse is an old race horse, and the best way to make him go faster is for you to let me half a crown he won't catch the 3:45. That'll put him on his mettle directly he fears it and he'll fly like the wind."

The cabman won the half crown.

Thomas Mott Osborne, one of the leaders of the state Democratic League of New York, was talking about political organization. "Good men," he said, "are rare. They come high. There is a tendency to accept as workers all and sundry who volunteer, but this tendency is as foolish as the logic of the smoker's wife. 'Hereafter,' said a smoker, 'I prefer to buy my own cigars, darling. You are very good to volunteer to do my cigar buying, but really this has a twelve for a quarter is a little too cheap.' I know twelve for a quarter is cheap, his wife answered, 'but I thought there'd be one or two good ones in the twelve.'"

A VALENTINE LUNCHEON.

There are each year so many new favors, place cards and ideas for house and table decoration for valentine parties that one may have something unusual without much expense.

The "little god of love" favors red as his color, and one may use red in flowers for table decorations. Small cakes baked in the form of a heart, or cookies cut with a heart cutter, frosted and decorated with the small red candles so much enjoyed by the children, heart-shaped pretty shells may be used, with creamed sweetbreads for filling. Ices and ice creams can be bought molded in heart forms.

Of course, the inevitable sandwich is to be heart-shaped and any desired filling may be used.

For the center piece, a bunch of dark red carnations with streamers of red ribbon or nicely cut crepe paper ending in the form of small heart-shaped boxes filled with bou-bons or salted nuts.

For the young people there is no game that seems quite so enjoyable as hunting hidden peanuts, the one finding the largest number receiving an appropriate prize, and the one finding the least a consolation prize.

For room decorations the lights may be shaded with red paper or lighted with red-shaded candles.

A very effective decoration for walls and windows is made of hearts cut from red cardboard pasted on ribbon. Hang in straight lines on the lace curtains and between the rooms in archedways and doors.

Candy hearts with mottoes might be used for the game of hidden hearts, instead of peanuts, and more appropriate they would be.

Cup Cake.—Use any recipe for a rich white cake; bake in heart-shaped gem-pans and frost with boiled frosting. Decorate with the tiny candy hearts and red candles.

HOUSEHOLD TALKS

by Henrietta D. Grauel

Honey gives, as is well known, a lasting quality and delicious flavor to cakes and puddings made with it. No artificial substitute will ever be found to take its place or successfully imitate it.

It is the most delicious sweet one can eat and is the purest form of true sugar known; it should be given to children in the place of candy and cake to satisfy the demands that all children have for sweets which is the natural call of the growing body for a needed element.

"The Life of the Bee," by Mother Black, is the greatest book on the subject that ever has or ever will be written," says the housekeeper.

Maurice Mysterick keeps bees with him wherever he works and has studied them daily, while his wife, who shares his love for them, has experimented with their honey until she has discovered some remarkable things. Grace Applewell says that Madame Mysterick feasts on this food of the gods all the year round and that it keeps her always well and therefore always amiable.

She uses it in the place of sugar in her cooking, sweetens her coffee with it instead of sugar, and drinks it mixed with sweet rich milk and uses it on puddings and with rich fruit and straight from the comb.

Madame Mysterick's Honey Gingerbread.—Blend a cup of honey with a half a cup of butter, add two well beaten eggs, a half a teaspoon of salt, two cups of flour, a teaspoon of cinnamon, a teaspoon of ginger, and three-quarters of a teaspoon of soda. Mix in two cups of sour milk; beat briskly, bake and when cool cut with fresh milk and honey.

The Normandy peasant children love this gingerbread and come shyly to the rose grown garden of Waudrille, Normandy, where the writer of "The Blue Bird" and his actress wife, Gergette Lelliane, welcome and pet and feed them.

Madame Mysterick's Rice with Honey and Butter.—Steam the rice as usual, dress with cream and butter and sweeten with hot honey.

Apples with Honey.—Choose large cooking apples, remove the core and fill the cavity with honey and a little butter. Season with spiced and bake. Eat with cream.

A delightful honey dessert that has been popular, wherever honey is to be had, for many years is Honey Ice Cream.—The yolk of four eggs beaten until a lemon colored froth and mix gradually with a cup of clear honey; now add the whites beaten as stiff as possible, and a pint of cream whipped. Freeze without stirring and eat with a fine white cake or angel food.

Scriptural Honey Cakes.—One cup of butter, scriptural measure, two cups of honey heated together, two cups of raisins and one cup of chopped figs, according to first Samuel, thirteenth chapter and twelfth verse, one half cup of water, one cup of pure ground fine, six eggs, sweet spices to taste. Following Solomon's advice in the twenty-third chapter of Proverbs, for making good boys and you will have a good cake. Mix two teaspoons of baking powder into the flour; mix and bake in gem pans.

A. I. Root's Honey Jumbles.—Mix a cup of honey with a cup of white sugar, add two-thirds of a cup of butter and the juice of two lemons. Stir this mixture very hard and add enough flour to make a stiff dough, roll thin and cut in rounds and bake in buttered tins.

A French honey butter for filling pastry shells is made by heating together, until very light, a half a cup of sugar and an equal amount of butter, add one egg, beat again and flavor with lemon. Heat over the fire until the whole comes to a boil. This will keep for some time.

A Woman's Observations

By Edna K. Wooley.

THE SELFISH WE HAVE ALWAYS WITH US.

There are some people so intensely selfish, so jealous of their "rights," that even a most serious emergency cannot shake them out of their insistence upon what they think is due them.

We have heard and suffered a good deal through the telephone party-line gossip who hold the wire for half an hour each time she visits over the phone with a friend. It makes no difference that three other people on that same line may be needing the wire for matters of importance, she has the wire and she'd like to see anybody take it from her.

Last week, in Chicago, a little girl was run over by a heavy truck. Her left leg was torn off and her body horribly bruised.

Neighbors ran to help and one of them, a man, hurried into the house to telephone for an ambulance. When he took up the receiver, a woman's voice snapped:

"I am using this line. Pray do not interrupt."

"But there's a little girl here with her leg torn off. I want to get an ambulance!" exclaimed the man.

"Get off the wire. I am talking now," replied the woman. The man had to hang up the receiver and run several blocks before he could get word to the police.

When the injured child got to the hospital the doctors said that the delay would probably cost her life.

Perhaps that, in an exceptional case of selfishness, I hope it is, I hope that very few people, men or women, would be so heartless in such an emergency. In fact, I do not believe that the great majority would have acted as did this Chicago woman. Yet there is always the hundredth instance, and none of us know when we will strike it.

A New York woman has been fined $500 for gossiping—hurrah, hurrah!

A few years ago a woman in Vienna was fined and imprisoned for gossiping. It seems that the good work is going on; slowly, to be sure, but still it's moving.

There would be no greater curb to malicious gossip than the surety that the and imprisonment would follow. So far, women have felt themselves immune from punishment, no matter what they said or did, nor

Heart and Home Problems

by MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

I wish to explain to the readers of this column, and to those who send letters of inquiry, that on account of the number of communications received, a period of from ten days to two weeks often elapses between the receipt of a letter and the publication of the answer. If you wish my suggestions in advance of a given date, be sure to write to me two weeks before hand.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) Can you tell me how to take an ink spot out of a white lawn dress? (2) I am fifteen years old and my hair is very straight. What would be a nice way to arrange it? (3) What are some pretty flowers that will grow in the garden? (4) Can you suggest some occupation by which I could make money, without leaving home? (5) Do the members of a graduating class give each other gifts? (6) Can you suggest some quiet, inexpensive place where my mother, who is sickly, can spend the summer?

R. C. A. (1) Use several applications of lemon juice on the ink spot, then wash and boil. (2) Try two braids, wound about the head, coronet fashion. (3) Nasturtiums, pansies, and bellows buttons are good garden flowers. (4) Selling subscriptions for newspapers, or magazines might serve. It is hard to get satisfactory employment without going to work regularly in a store, shop or office. (5) It is not customary to give or exchange gifts. (6) Consult railroad agents, or write the general passenger agent of a good railroad.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Please tell me how to make marshmallows and soufflé.

To make marshmallows, soak 4 ounces of pulverized gum arabic in 1 cup of water for 2 hours, dissolve gradually in a double boiler, and strain through coarse muslin. Add 1 cup of powdered sugar to this and stir steadily in the boiler until the mixture is stiff and white. Take from fire, beat and add half teaspoon of vanilla. Rub the inside of tin with cornstarch and pour this mixture into them. When the paste is cool cut into squares, and turn each of these over and over in a mixture of 1 part of powdered sugar to three parts of cornstarch. Keep in tin box until ready to use.

There is a recipe for soufflé over three cups of light brown sugar, sprinkle a pinch of cream of tartar. Add three-fourths cup boiling water and boil until it will ball in cold water. Then pour boiling hot in a thread over beaten whites of two eggs. Beat until stiff to retain shape when dropped from spoon. Stir in a cup and a half of broken English walnuts. Then drop from a spoon into small mounds.

A New Old Household Soap

"Old Country" is not a new brand of household soap. It is a new soap, but new only to American housewives. It is the same identical soft green soap which has been a staple—like sugar and butter—in the old countries since 1753.

Now Available for the First Time in America

No amount of money could buy the formula for "Old Country" Green Soap. To be able to make it in America we had to bring over one of the family that first made it in Europe and still makes it. He is our Chief Chemist.

"The Wizard Soap of the World" Think of a soap that is unequalled in every detail of household cleaning—which is the best for washes and best for scrubbing the kitchen floor!

Think of a soap which beats any "special" compound for cleaning porcelain tubs and yet is unexcelled for the most delicate lace curtains!

Think of the only soap which will clean linoleum without cracking it!

Think of such strength with purity that makes it positively beneficial for the hands!

That's "Old Country" and more!

GOOD CROP WEATHER PROMISED FOR JUNE

Foster Predicts Hot Waves for Early Days of Month—Moisture Will be Deficient in Parts of Country.

Last bulletin gave forecasts of disturbances to cross continent, May 31 to June 4, and June 5 to 9, warm waves 30 to June 3, and June 4 to 8, cool waves June 2 to 6 and 7 to 11. The period covered by these disturbances will be the hottest part of June and where there is sufficient moisture will be the finest cropweather of the month.

But in large sections moisture will be deficient and the hot weather will not only cause a drought scare but an actual damaging drought. I have warned all through these bulletins to sell cotton or grain. I predicted prices and advised against selling at the lowered market prices.

The great speculators took advantage of the improved crop weather and pressed prices to lower figures. Of course they did this to buy at reduced figures. I still advise farmers and dealers to get all the cotton and grain they can and keep them. The manipulation of market prices is the cause of this country and every producer and legitimate dealer should urge it on the congressmen to find a way to stop old money bags from setting the prices on farm products.

My weather work will be much more valuable when supply and demand are not misrepresented and are permitted to regulate prices. Swat the men who manipulate the markets.

Next disturbance will reach Pacific coast about June 10, cross Pacific slope by close of 11, great central valleys 12, to 14, eastern sections 15. Warm wave will cross Pacific slope about June 10, great central valleys 12, eastern sections 14. Cool wave will cross Pacific slope about June 13, great central valleys 15, eastern sections 17.

At the time of this disturbance the usual trend of temperatures are considerable upward but not so for this June. The trend will be a little downward making the first third of the month warmer than usual the middle third about normal and the last third below normal. This, of course, is expected to be the general average of this June east of Rockies but west of Rockies the reverse is expected.

Another departure from above statement is expected. Where good rains fall it will be cooler than indicated and where drought prevails it will be warmer than indicated. See last bulletin for June rainfall forecasts.

About and following June 1 great weather events are expected. Great storms and earthquakes are probable where these occur. They cannot now be located but readers are advised to be on the lookout for them. Watch the news columns for great events in other countries. I have expected these great disturbances to cover about ten days May 30 to June 8 or 10.

I expect showers to occur in many places from June 1 to 10 but not much rain from June 17 to July 2. The month of June will begin to indicate where the best crops will be produced and where the drought will damage crops. But July and August will determine the cotton and corn and spring wheat crops. Serious drought for those two months is expected in large sections.

I am still of opinion that we need not fear a general depression and breakdown in financial and other business affairs. The big speculators can do what they want to do but in this time of unusual unrest among the masses of all civilized countries the great financial manipulators will certainly have a cure for their own interests and safety.

Because of the universal extension of schools, and particularly because of the greatly increased extension of good newspapers, intelligence and knowledge among the common people and middle classes is more universal than ever before and a most important feature of the situation is that all round the globe, the people are directing attention to the many pressing ills which are manipulating the finances for the purposes of speculation.

That Shylock class is not numerous but they are powerful in world-wide financial affairs. Of course they are shrewd and intelligent and while some are predicting breakdown in 1914 I do not believe it. The 100 kings of the world finances will not take that risk under present circumstances. They have not forgotten the French Revolution. I so on record that there will be no panic in 1914.

SIDEWALK KETCHES.

THE BEAUTY PARLOR. (By Howard L. Hann.)

The beauty parlor is a place where a woman exchanges hard-earned money for a complexion and figure which her husband has no recollection of seeing before. It is a strict one-price concern, said price being sufficient to elicit a deep, flowing convulsion in the hubby's lifetime. This report is liberally patronized by people who are not in the habit of blighting a body, with their fatal gift of beauty, and it is the cause of some very abrupt and terrifying transformations. The beauty parlor makes a specialty of fitting the hollows of the face to lean women who wish to discard favor the apple cartwheel effect so popular last season, thereby giving them the severe, chiseled lines of a straw tick. It also deals in the electric complexion, which is guaranteed not to crack, peel, rub off or absorb anything but a month's salary. This complexion is a very handy toilet article, as it can be taken off at night and restocked in a shade suitable to any occasion, from a gipsy parlor to a bright Venetian red. The crowning glory of the beauty parlor, however, is the paraffine boiler, which is used to remove blackheads and hummocks from the human neck and encourage the propagation of the delectable toilet. It is quite discouraging to enter a beauty parlor for the first time, apparently in a state of perfect health, and have a sharp-eyed specialist point out a series of eruptive blemishes ranging from the profusest cystic acne to the low, red, freckling of the common head. After a plain, spare woman has taken one term of lessons at a beauty parlor and practiced diligently at home on the dumb bells and powder run, she is liable to start on an exhibition of affection in the part of her husband which would prove a pleasing departure from the regular order of business. If there were more beauty parlors in this country there would be fewer frost-bitten husbands and less acrimony and biting reported at the breakfast table.

"PEA SAUSAGE" AND ROASTED PEANUTS.

"Pea sausage," which did such good service in the Franco-Prussian war, was made from pea and lentil flour, much cooked, evaporated and mixed with a portion of bacon, seasoning and a preservative, giving it the flavor of animal sausage, but it was found that after it had been used for a considerable time it brought on digestive troubles and a decided distaste for it. The percentage of protein in beans and lentils is high and high cooking is especially injurious to all proteins, as well as to the protein of egg albumen. It is for this reason chiefly that roasted peanuts are particularly injurious as the occasional reports of death from eating them indicate.

CURIOUS BITS OF HISTORY

WHEN LONDONERS LOVED DARKNESS.

By A. W. MACY.

For several hundred years London sat in darkness on moonless nights. From 1416 on, however, the citizens were obliged to hang out candles on dark nights to illuminate the streets. This was enforced by act of parliament in 1661. In 1684 Edward Heming, the inventor of oil lamps, made a daring offer, which was, that for proper consideration he would engage to place a light before every tenth door, on dark nights, from six p. m. till midnight. His proposition was accepted, and he was given the exclusive right to light the streets as indicated for a term of years. But the scheme provoked a great uproar among the people. Some of them enthusiastically applauded it, and hailed Heming as the greatest benefactor the city ever had. Thousands of others furiously denounced him and his scheme, and demanded that the contract be cancelled. Heming held on, and in time the people became reconciled to having the streets lighted. In 1736 the city government assumed the responsibility.

PLAYS AND PLAYERS.

A play to be produced early next season is called "The New Six." Gabriel d'Annunzio and Mascagni are collaborating on a tragic opera. Billie Burke will have the principal part in Placido's new comedy, "Mind the Paint Girl."

Winchell Smith has written a new comedy for Julian Eltinge to be used by him next season.

English Colliery Superstition. A curious custom prevails among the Durham (Eng.) colliery women. Whenever they put clean sheets on the bed, they also place three small bits of coal on it. If they omit to do this, they think the husband will meet with an accident before the sheets are changed next time.

IN MEMORIAM

UNFURL thy dear folds to the breezes of May, Flag of our pride this Memorial Day. Thy stars are the jewels of Liberty crowned; With thy stripes the heart of our nation is bound. Dear emblem of freedom, tenderly wave O'er each sacred mound, o'er each lowly grave, Where sleep our brave dead.

WE trim thy dear folds in fragrance and bloom, In honor of those who rest in the tomb; Our soldier heroes! today it is ours To strew their low beds with beautiful flowers: Sweet gems of the sod, all wet with the dew, With hearts full of love we bring them to you, Our dear "Boys in Blue."

UNCLE WALT The Poet Philosopher

Copyright, 1909, by George Matthew Adams
BY WALT MASON

Uncle Walt—sing his own song. A man may sing with a song, and lead the folks a while; but they will weigh him in the end, size up his caliber and send him to the old junk pile. To gather in some fame or puff the cheap man always boasts a wondrous noise; but noise soon bores his fellow men and fills them with the willow; then he's outlived by the boys. I've met some fellows really great; some guys who reached a high estate in letters or in art; and shy and modest were they all—no banners of the outer wall, no banners of the inner wall. And I have met some cheaper guys who thought this planet and the skies resounded with their fame; ah, they were made of tin or dust! Their cheeks were swelled up fit to burst, their heads swelled up the same. A little while, throughout the town, the selling-places hold renown, and then they sink and slip; at last they join the has-been clan and have no friend in mortal man since they have lost their grip. The influence of man of worth goes shining over all the earth as shines the summer sun; it needs no carnival of noise to gain attention from the boys, or hold it when it's won.

FACT-PROOF

She—It's a pity he had to die. He was very popular, wasn't he. He—Extremely so. Why, even the undertaker was sorry to see him go.

The Greatest Detective.

After a man has known a few jealous women he doesn't marvel much at the cleverness of Sherlock Holmes or Old Sleuth.—Atchison Globe.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Gazette, May 30, 1872.—The Memorial Services, "The cold and gloomy weather this morning boded a cheerless day for the memorial services in commemoration of our fallen soldiers, but toward the middle of the forenoon the threatening clouds gave way, and under the influence of a summer's sun, the atmosphere is warmed to a comfortable temperature and we could not hope for a day more favorable to the occasion. There are indications of a large attendance at the cemetery this afternoon. The arrangements are all completed and as we go to press our citizens are assembling to take their places in the procession which starts for the cemetery at 2:15. A sufficient quantity of flowers to meet the requirements of the occasion have been donated and a number of young ladies have been busy at the Baptist church all the forenoon, arranging them into bouquets, wreaths and crosses.

The following program includes the exercises at the cemetery.

Influence of Nature.

I will walk abroad; old griefs shall be forgotten today; for the air is cool and still, and the hills are high and stretch away to heaven; and the forest glades are quiet as a churchyard; and with the dew, I can wash the fever from my forehead and then I shall be unhappy no longer.—De Quincey.

If You Desire Success.

If you wish success in life, make perseverance your bosom friend, cautions your wise counselor, caution your older brother, and hope your guardian genius.—Addison.

For Cutting One's Own Hair.

A foreign inventor has patented a device which, it is said, will enable any man to cut his own hair. It consists of a comb attachment that may be placed upon any razor. The hair is then combed with the razor, which cuts off the ends of the hair precisely the right length.

Plaything of Fate.

"Fate is a funny thing," says the Philosopher of Folly. "I know a man who was driven to writing poetry by having a girl jilt him. His next sweetheart jilted him when she read the poetry."

Cat Put Up Vicious Fight. While calling at a friend's ranch the other day, a young Italian nobleman, who is ranching near Monterey, Cal., was attacked by a huge Maltese cat, a pet of the household, and severely bitten on the hand and in the back. He was walking up the steps of the house when the cat attacked him. The animal sank its teeth into the fleshy part of his back and clung to him with bulldog tenacity. In attempting to pull the cat off his back, the victim was bitten on the hand. The cat followed him to the gate, and he was obliged to use a club to drive it off.

PUBLIC IS ASKED TO AID IN THE MATTER

Persons Answering Fraudulent Advertisements Asked to Notify Gazette. The Gazette is desirous of keeping out of its columns fraudulent advertising and asks the assistance of its patrons to that end. There are any number of con-men in the country who make a living through a nicely worded advertisement, offering golden opportunities, and these unscrupulous people find fertile ground for work among the masses. Many orders are received in the Gazette mail for advertising which are returned as objectionable and where there is a question as to the qualifications the advertisement is omitted. All newspapers have this experience. But even with the utmost care there will be an occasional advertisement which will pass the scrutiny of the business department of the paper and find its way into the columns. The Gazette will deem it a favor if you will report to the office any trouble which may have been experienced through the answering of such an advertisement.

Be independent of Fortune. If fortune favor you, be not elated; if she frown, do not despair.—Aesop.
